TOWN OFFICIAL PAPER.

VOLUME II. BERKELEY, CAL., FRIDAY JULY 26 1895 NUMBER 85

A SLICK ONE.

A Young Man Who Has Been Fleecing

Merchants of Oakland and Berkeley

By the Means of Forged Checks-

An Insulting Peddler Abroad in the Land—The Hermit of the County Jail—A New Pastor For Berkeley.

A Clever Forger.

Torrey, Whitman & Gardiner, the Eleventh street merchants, Oakland, are out just $30 by the clever manipulations of a smooth swindler they had some dealings with on Wednesday.

The forger's methods of operating are a little out of the ordinary. His checks are all drawn on the Central Bank, and bear the signature of Grayson, Owen & Co., the wholesale butchers. The signature is, of course, a forgery. The checks are made out in favor of a third party, who is known to be a customer of the house selected by the sharper. The indorsement is forged, and the check bears the impress of genuineness.

The smooth young man who is making an easy livelihood calls on the stores after banking hours with the statement that the person in whose favor the check is drawn requested that it be cashed at that particular place. The checks traced to the man are many, varying in amounts from $20 to $30.

One peculiar feature is that no description of the man can be obtained by the police, but he has been traced all over the county in his operations. He has victimized Alameda, Haywards and Berkeley merchants, and so far has eluded capture.

Look Out for Him.

People would do well to be on the look out for a pestiferous peddler who goes about insulting women. The fellow has one arm and sells soap. He calls at houses and is so persistent as to be a nuisance. Sometimes he rings the bells of second story flats and when women only are about becomes abusive. When requested at one place to close the door behind him. he replied to the lady of the house, "D—m you, come down and shut your own door."

Called to Berkeley.

The vestry of St. Marks' Episcopal Church, Berkeley, has decided to call Rev. William I. Kip to the rectorship of the parish.

Mr. Kip is the grandson of the late Bishop Kip. He was ordained in the ministry last summer and for the past year has been officiating as the rector of the Good Samaritan Mission, on Second street, near Folsom. After completing his theological course at an Eastern seminary, Mr. Kip spent several years in New York studying the college settlements and different methods of helping the poor. He became so interested in this phase of Christian work that on his return to his home he immediately took steps to organize an improved college settlement in this city.

He rented a few rooms on Second street and began in a small way. The work expanded so rapidly that it was not long before he was obliged to rent the entire lower part of the building.

The little chapel that is used for the Sunday services has been too small for months to accomodate the regular attendents. Mr. Kip's idea was to secure a lot in the neighborhood and erect a settlemeut house. The poor people of the vicinity, whose lives he has brightened the past year will regret it exceedingly should he decide to go to Berkeley.

Rev. Dr. Easton, the rector who has been in charge of St. Mark's parish for a number of years, has retired on account of poor health.—Examiner.

Will Die in Jail.

Old George Jones was subjected yesterday to his periodical examination at the hands of the District Attorney, Drs. Blood and Rabe. The commission will report the result today to Judge Frick.

Jones is known as the "hermit of the jail." He is partially paralyzed, bedridden and 87 years old. He leaves his cot only twice each week, when he is taken down stairs to be bathed.

Jones killed Lorenzo Dutil on January 18, 1885. The murdered man kept a little wine shop on San Pablo avenue, and one morning was found in his backroom with his skull crushed in. Some of the dead man's effects were found on Jones. and though the evidence was circumstantial, Jones was tried and convicted on June 5, 1885, and sentenced on July 11th of that year to be hanged. He secured a stay because of illness, and has ever since been sick in the County Jail, where it is expected he will pass his last days.

The Bicycle Plant.

Applications are coming in from various parts of the State to have the new bicycling plant located at the places mentioned by the solicitors. When it comes down to solid facts Berkeley is a better place for all around purposes than any other town in the State can offer. The parties interested will find, if they take pains to look into the merits of putting their plant here, that without any other inducement than the town itself and all of its natural accommodations, it will be of greater benefit to the company than any other can offer with the addition of chromos.

Will Abate a Nuisance.

The directors of at least one railroad company have heeded the request of their patrons, and put a stop to the troublesome candy peddlers who have hawked their wares and forced them upon the people on board the boats and trains.

The North Pacific Coast Railway has informed the peddlers that they will no longer be allowed aboard its trains or boats, and the patrons of the road can now travel unmolested and without being insulted whenever they choose to refuse the boxes of candy which the peddlers sought to force them to purchase.

It is also stated that the Southern Pacific Company will abate the candy peddling nuisance which now exists on their local system.

The director of physical culture at the University, Walter E. Magee, contradicts the report that the course in physical culture will be made elective. At one time it was the purpose of the college authorities to make it compulsory upon the part of the women attending the University, but as that would have entailed the employment of a female teacher, it was abandoned. The course will, therefore, remain as heretofore, elective only for the women.

Broke His Leg.

Last Saturday William Hyde of Berkeley had his leg broken. Hyde was riding with Charles Denny, driver of the Vienna Bakery wagon, when the horse kicked up, striking Hyde and producing a compound fracture. Dr. Camp came to the assistance of Hyde, and had him carried to his residence, where he set the injured limb, and shortly after the injured man was sent to his home in Berkeley.—Contra Costa News.

Last words of Sheriff Johnson concerning the bold brigand Brady, "I am in close pursuit."

An eight hnndred barrel per day oil well is now giving up its contents in that quantity at Los Angeles.

The spiritualists have an encampment at Santa Monica. There is a large attendance.

It is rather a bad day with the Chicago police when they cannot work up a newly discovered murder by the notorious Holmes. Miss Cigrand and Kitty Kelly are the latest reported as having been killed by this man.

Recent action taken by the Hawaiian government goes to show that it will aid a company which may be disposed to lay a cable between the islands and the main land. The use of government land as well as financial aid will be extended.

Ye faithful worker diggeth for clams and he gets 'em. He also diggeth for the succulent potato and he finds 'em, but ye slanderer diggeth for newspaper skunks and he finds 'em and if ye public notice, in all cases, an 'em's lying at the end.

H. D. McElrath, who is accompaned by his wife, reached Sacramento yesterday. They have travelled 2800 miles on their wheels. They will leave San Francisco on Saturday for Asia. It is their intention to go around the world on bicycles. He will represent the Chicago Inter Ocean on the trip.

The Sanitary Inspector is now engaged on the Second ward, and has found fourteen places calling for better conditions. The alarm at one time entertained that the inspector was inclined to overstep his duty has subsided and he encounters little or no opposition in his work and generally a ready disposition to carry out his suggestions.

The First English Lutheran congregation, Rev. J. E. Bushnell, D. D., pastor, will soon erect a new church on a spacious lot, at Sixteenth and Grove streets, Oakland. The plans for the structure are now completed and the estimated cost is between $8,000 and $10,000.

The First English Lutheran Church of Oakland, 1156 Washington street, will hold its communion services Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Friends at Berkeley are invited to attend. The corner stone of the new church, corner Sixteenth and Grove streets, will be laid August 11th.

Henery W. Laugenour, Assembly man from the Woodland district, left Woodland last Friday, 19th instant, for San Francisco with a note for $10,000, signed by his mother. His intention was to borrow money at some bank with it. On Monday he telegraphed to Woodland that he would reach there that night. He did not go. The last seen of him was at the Bay District race track on Tuesday afternoon. It is feared that he has met with foul play.

Frank J. O'Brien has just received a barrel of beer made by the Independent Brewery of East Oakland of which T. C. Landregan is the proprietor. A notice of this enterprise recently appeared in the GAZETTE. The beer was made last week and will not be ready for sampling until the first of the week.

LAST CHAPTER

In the Life of a Brutal Murderer

William Fredericks Was Hanged

At San Quentin This Morning.

He Ascends the Scaffold Without Any Nervousness or Fear, and Makes a Short Speech Before he is Jerked Into Eternity.

Special to the GAZETTE,

His Jig is Up.

SAN QUENTIN, July 26.—Murderer Fredericks slept calm and peacefully last night, and no one would have thought that he was sleeping his last sleep on earth to have looked at him. He did not seem to be dreaming, and slept soundly until 6:30 this morning. After he awoke he dressed himself in the same careless fashion that has been his wont, and after eating a hearty breakfast, he lighted the tobacco in his pipe and conversed cheerfully with his guards and the newspaper men, but he would not converse about the crime. The most careful observation failed to show any signs of weakening, and he cracked jokes as he has done during the past month.

At 8:30 the priest who has been constantly giving him words of comfort entered the cell and remained with him over an hour. When the priest had finished with him he resumed his conversation with the guards and those present and had a pleasant smile for all of them. He said that he would like to live, but that he was satisfied to die.

Every once in awhile he would look toward the next room where the gallows were erected and from where he could hear the subdued hum of many voices, but he did not flinch one bit.

At 9:50 Warden Hale entered his cell and read the death warrant to him after which he told him to come with him.

Fredericks, without changing color, got up and followed the Warden into the next room with a firm and steady step and when he ascended the steps to the scaffold he was entirely unmoved. He walked to the front of the platform, directly under the noose, and looked complacently down upon the upturned faces of those who were there to see him die.

His arms and feet were quickly pinioned and he stood up and the chair was removed.

He then in a steady voice, without any huskiness or quiver, spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen, I heartily forgive all my enemies as I hope to be forgiven. I can assure you, gentlemen, that I do not entertain the least thought of hard feeling to any living mortal. The blindness of human justice will, in a moment, be gratified, and I leave behind me the chains of slavery and the bones of the flesh. By the will of our Omnipotent Creator I die in the faith of the holy Roman Catholic Church and I cheerfully consign myself to the infinite justice and mercy of One who is with and above all. Amen."

The priest said a farewell word to him and the black cap was pulled over his head and exactly at 10:04 o'clock the trap was sprung and Fredericks was dancing on air. The physicians at once caught his hands and took his pulse and in eleven minutes he was pronouuced dead and was cut down. His neck was broken and death must have been instantaneous.

The murderer was buried this afternoon in the prison graveyard and the last chapter in the life of William Fredericks was ended.

There was a large number of officers, newspaper men and physicians in attendance at the execution. Four sons of Sheriff Pascoe, who was murdered by Fredericks, were present, and saw their father avenged by the law.

She discovered a package of letters from Oakland addressing Parlin as husband and in affectionate terms. One of the letters Mrs. Parlin got was from a sister of the woman who it is alleged wrote the above named letters, in which Parlin is upbraided for keeping his marriage to her a secret. It is also alleged that Conductor Parlin has been keeping company with a girl in Pasadena to whom he promised marriage as soon as he could get divorced from the present Mrs. Parlin.

Joseph McClain & Co. have adopted the cash system to a certain extent in this way. They have a good variety of good, substantial plated ware of value on exhibition on their store window. Every cash purchaser gets a ticket representing a certain percentage of the purchase money. When the buyer gets enough tickets to amount to the value of any of these article he produces the tickets and selects what he wants. It is a good scheme to get people to deal for cash but it needs the newspaper to tell the people where to go to get such bargains.

The Call is a little previous when it says that the Alameda Water Company is digging the trench in which the new six-inch water mains to West Berkeley will be laid. No such good news for that section of the town now. It may come about later on.

At the tax sale yesterday all the property delinquent was sold, except in one instance. That will be struck off to the town today if there are no bidders for it. Those in attendance were mostly men who have made a business of buying tax titles.

A number of the professors in the University have been building themselves residences this summer. The list includes Professors Lange, Lawson, Stringham, Plehn and Mr. Blasdale. All are in one neighborhood, south of the University grounds.

Lost—A coat with account book of H. Dajas in the outside pocket. Lost last Saturday between San Pablo aveuue and Gilman streets and Grand and Addison streets, West Berkeley. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning same to H. Daja's Liquor Store, corner Sixth and Bancroft way, West Berkeley. 83-2t

A competing line to San Jose is to be put in full force by a new company of which Aden of Vallejo is the prime mover. Boats will run to Alviso and a railroad will be built from that place to San Jose. The line is an old one, having been used about forty years ago. At that time stages were used in place of a railroad. At that time the steamers University City and the Jenny Lind were running in the bay. The latter blew up, killing a number of people.

TOWN OFFICIAL PAPER.

FRIDAY, JULY 26 1895

THE WILMERDING SCHOOL.

Livermore, San Leandro, Haywards, Alameda, Oakland and San Francisco are all using every means in their power to induce the Board of Regents to locate the Wilmerding mechanical school in one of those places. Berkeley is sitting with folded hands doing nothing, apparently willing to let the plum slip out of its grasp.

There is no doubt but that Mr. Wilmerding intended that the school should be located in Berkeley, and he never thought that it was necessary to insert the clause that "it should be located in Berkeley," or he would have done so.

The University has a very large tract of land in Berkeley and ample room for the erection of the building necessary for the Wilmerding school. Thus it will be seen that a large amount of money will be saved in this way. Again, it is not customary to scatter a State University all over the State.

It may be right to have the medical and the law colleges in San Francisco on account of the hospitals and the libraries, but we doubt it as Berkeley is close enough to San Francisco for students to visit the hospitals and the law library should be located right in Berkeley. When the State built its first building in Berkeley it was intended that the University for all time to come would be located in Berkeley. The Regents, however, who seem to be all powerful, have, during the last few years been inclined to have portions of the University scattered about Oakland or San Francisco. This is unjust to Berkeley which has to live under the restrictions provided for the University by the State, and the University in part is taken away from it. No University will ever prosper or amount to much unless it is one institution under one management.

At the present time Professor Kellogg is supposed to be the President of the State University and to have charge and supervision of all its branches. How in the name of common sense, we ask, can he do justice to himself or to the students or professors if he has to chase over to the Hastings Law College or the Toland Medical College in San Francisco, and then by way of a little exercise go to Haywards or San Leandro to look after the Mechanical School and then get back to Berkeley to look after the different halls of learning here? President Kellogg is not a young man, and even if he were, he could not do it, consequently the efficiency of the University is impaired.

The people of Berkeley should urge upon the Regents the necessity of locating the Wilmerding school here, and should also have a bill framed and passed at the next Legislature, which in the future would compel all buildings or branches to be erected and maintained in Berkeley.

THE Dwight way Monstrosity paid its compliments to the GAZETTE last evening. Had the sheet any readers we might reply to the article, but as it has none we do not care to enter into any controversy with the deluded youth who attempts to edit it. In fact we do not care to resurect the dead.

SUPERVISOR PELOUZE, who has had a fat snap as Supervisor for the past eleven years by the vote of West Oakland, Golden Gate, Lorin and West Berkeley was very mad during the meeting of the Board of Supervisors yesterday. He feels very bad because he is now the fifth wheel to a coach, and complains that the other four members always vote him down. He has now a chance to take a dose of his own medicine. It is not very long since that he was in the swim of four to one, but now he is let out and he squeels for admission. If Mr. Pelouze has ever done one thing during his whole term of office that has been of any benefit to his constituents we would like to learn of it. The people of his district are like the people of the United States, they are waiting to return him to the oblivion from whence he sprung.

THERE are a large number of Eastern manufacturers who are desirous of coming to California but they feel as if they should have some inducement offered them. There is now an application from a bicycle factory that would employ at least 400 men, and now comes an envelope factory that would empioy at least forty men. Berkeley should have this factory, in fact it should have both factories and it will have them if our citizens will wake up to the fact and become a little progressive.

THE Durrant case is to be tried in San Francisco and this is as it should be. The attorneys for the defence have already commenced with their technicalities, and from their manner and mood it looks very much as though they thought their client guilty and were going to get him off on technicalities if such a thing were possible. It is too bad that such a state of affairs exist in law, but they will continue just so long as lawyers are sent to the Legislature.

ALAMEDA is a strange place. Only a short time ago the ministers and good people of that moral city opposed the giving of living pictures in bronze by a couple of young men. Now the clergy and the people have gone wild over the proposed scheme of giving living pictures by young ladies, who will not appear before the footlights but will appear before mirrors on the back of the stage. Thus their images will only be seen by the public, and themselves in flesh and blood will only be seen by the man behind the scenes and the performers. Of course this is only beating the devil around the bush but as the clergy are satisfied so is society.

THE GAZETTE has always said a good word for the Salvation Army and will continue to do so when it is deserved. It, however, desires to caution them when they break the laws of the land. It has been their desire and custom in Oakland for many years to stand upon the street corners and exhort sinners. When Davie was elected he stopped all that under an ordinance of the city but gave the Army the privilege of the City Hall steps or the plaza. They refused this and were arrested. After they were arrested they went to the City Hall with their meetings and have not since defied the law. They have now presented a petition to the Council asking that they be allowed to hold street meetings. We hope their petition will prevail, but would suggest that in the future they obey the law and then file their petition, instead of teaching their members that they are above the law.

Don't borrow the GAZETTE, subscribe for it, it is only 25 cents a month delivered by carriers.

LOADING AN OCEAN LINER.

The Storage Is Something Tremendous and Requires Careful Packing.

To watch the loading of grain, either from an elevator or a lighter, into one of the mammoth vessels engaged in its transportation, is to witness one of the chief operations in the movements of the world's commerce. It is carried in long pipes, with a funnel shaped movable appendage at the end, which is shifted by means of a rope from one part of the hold to another, according as the stream of grain fills up the spaces reserved for it. The grain flows into the vessel with the noise and velocity of a torrent and sends a dense volume of dust and chaff upward, obscuring the depths beneath and making the men attending the stowage below look like ghosts in the rising mist.

The "trimming" of the grain in the holds is an important part of its storage. After several thousand bushels have been streamed into the hold, a dozen or more men are delegated to shovel the downpouring column in between the vessel's beams, a job for which they are paid at the rate of a cent a minute. In vessels of the Cunard stripe it takes between 12,000 and 15,000 bushels to fill a hold, and these vessels average 50,000 bushels in the total cargo. Ships carrying grain alone can take as high as 125,000 bushels, and when it is considered that from 4,000 to 7,000 bushels can be stored in an hour, every 40 bushels weighing a ton, an idea can be had of the force of the torrent directed into the vessel.

Large vessels have four or five holds, and a distinction is made in storing the cargo in them. Grain, from its compact and dead weight, is reserved mostly for the center of the vessel, while cured provisions are packed as far forward and as far aft as possible, for their better preservation from the heat of the ship's fires. In some vessels, like the great Cunarders, which carry passengers as well as freight, the heaviest weight is stored in the lowest hold; in the technical parlance of the stevedore, "stiffening" the ship. It takes about 1,500 tons to "stiffen" a great Cunarder, and when this is done the lower hold is fastened and battened down and work is begun on the next.—Donahoe's Magazine.

COLERIDGE.

Indolence Capable of Energies Characteristic of His Whole Appearance.

The antivivisectionists sometimes horrify us by describing the poison which paralyzes all the active powers of the body while leaving the sensibilities untouched. Coleridge offers a study of that kind to psychologists. His will, no doubt, was congenitally feeble. "Indolence capable of energies," as he says in a remarkable passage of early self portraiture, was characteristic of his whole appearance. He could absorb enormous masses of reading and write or speak with amazing fluency, but the energy could not be co-ordinated or concentrated. It flowed hither and thither spontaneously along the channels dictated by the dominant feeling of the moment.

As psychologists phrase it, he had lost his power of "inhibition." He could not suppress or restrain his emotions. He valued metaphysical research, as he says in his pathetic ode, because was his "sole resource, his only plan." He could distract his mind from one pursuit by another, but could not force his energies to converge upon a single or distant aim. Painful emotions were evaded, instead of being met face to face. When he heard suddenly at Malta of John Wordsworth's death he tried to stagger out of a public room and before he reached the door fell to the floor in a convulsive hysteric fit, and was ill for a fortnight. He then declared that he was unable to open any letters lest they should bring news of the death of one of his children.

> Haply by abtruse research to steal
> From my own nature all the natural man

The intensity of his feelings paralyzed instead of stimulated his powers. "Vexations and preyings upon the spirit," he says, "pluck out the wing feathers of the mind." He is like a criminal upon the wheel, held down, not by chains, but by impotence of will, feeling every blow with singular intensity, but only capable of meeting it by shutting his eyes as long as possible or trying to distract his mind by puzzling over the problems most remote from practical application.—National Review.

Still Room For Research.

"What is this new substance I hear so much about?" asked the eminent scientist's wife.

"What new substance, my dear?"

"The element in the air that has just been detected."

"Oh, that, my dear," he answered, beaming over his spectacles with the good nature of superior wisdom, "is known as argon!"

"Oh!"

"Yes; its discovery is one of the most remarkable triumphs of the age. It has revolutionized some of the old theories, or at least it will revolutionize them before it gets through."

"What is it?"

"It's—er—s—did you say, 'What is it?'"

"I said that."

"Well—ahem—you see, we haven't as yet discovered much about it except its name."—Washington Star.

The Veil Butterfly.

A novelty this summer is the butterfly designed to fasten milady's veil. These butterflies are made with a patent catch and are charming to decorate the bodice as well as to fasten the veil. Many of them are enameled in all the natural colors of the butterfly. Darning needles for this purpose rival the butterflies in popularity. One darning needle more beautiful than the others is of green gold set with rose diamonds and emeralds. Very fine gold chains are worn about the neck for full dress occasions. Suspended from them are jeweled pendants for a succession of gems.

GOODBY.

Goodby! Goodby! How hard to say
When fondest hearts must sever!
One word, one look, thy hand in mine,
And then we part forever.
Goodby! Goodby! I hear it still,
That bitter note of sadness;
Its lingering echoes sound to me
A knell of dying gladness.

Goodby! Goodby! Though sets the sun,
Though falls the darkness coldly,
Remember thou hast duties yet
And face the future boldly.
Goodby! Goodby! From out the past
Looks forth thy face to cheer me.
Oh, do not ask me to forget
If memory brings thee near me.

THE FISH'S BALLOON.

A Mystery That Scientists Have Not Yet Been Able to Solve.

Naturalists long ago studied the composition of the gas contained in the swimming bladder of fishes and discovered that it consists of the principal constituents of the air—namely, oxygen, nitrogen and carbonic acid. But these constituents are not mingled in the fish's balloon in the same proportions as they are in the atmosphere, and besides their proportions do not remain always the same in the fish. Sometimes the bladder contains hardly any oxygen; at others oxygen constitutes nine-tenths of the whole contents.

The variation in the quantity of oxygen is somewhat mysterious, and naturalists have offered several different suggestions as to the cause of it. Some think the fish may be able to control the quantity of oxygen in its bladder by its own will. Biot, a distinguished French naturalist, thought he had solved the problem by discovering that the proportion of oxygen was larger in fish that lived at great depths and smaller in those that lived near the surface of the sea.

But quite recently new observations made from the Prince of Monaco's yacht, Princess Alice, seem to prove that Biot was mistaken and that the deep dwelling fish carry no more oxygen in proportion than do those living in shallow water. Some of the fish whose swimming bladders were examined by the naturalists on the Princess Alice came from a depth of no less than a mile.

They were compared with fish which seldom descend below 200 feet in depth and with others which prefer a depth of about 500 or 600 feet, and all had nearly the same proportion of oxygen to aid them in swimming.

The variations mentioned above seem therefore to depend upon some other cause than the depth of the fish's dwelling place.

It is these unsettled questions that offer to young naturalists some of their most brilliant opportunities for distinction. It is a great mistake to suppose that there does not remain a plenty of room for discovery in science.—Youth's Companion.

Why He Shook the Child.

A man riding in a Broad street omnibus the other day, with a small child in his arms, was the object of many frowns from the other passengers, because he persisted in vigorously shaking the little one on account of her crying. The shakings he gave the child did not appear to have any effect except to make her cry the harder. The women in the bus glared at the man and said mean things about him to each other. The men looked over the tops of their papers occasionally and swore inaudibly. The father wore a worried look, and the baby continued to cry. Occasionally it would stop, and its head would nod sleepily. Then the father would shake the youngster vigorously, waking it up and starting its tears afresh.

Finally a woman, who had been nervously watching the unnatural father, walked over and asked him why he was maltreating the youngster. "Why," said he, "I've got to shake her to keep her awake. She swallowed some kind of a drug, and if she goes to sleep she'll die." Just then the bus stopped at Broad and Thompson, and the father and child got off and entered the Children's hospital.—Philadelphia Record.

Silver Knights of America.

Senator Stewart of Nevada is said to be the president of a secret organization recently formed for political purposes. It is called the Order of the Supreme Temple, Silver Knights of America, and its general offices are in Washington. As the name indicates, the purpose of the society is to advance the cause of free coinage of silver.

During the last week or ten days the Western Union Telegraph company has been running a ten-wire cable from Port Costa to the city. The end of the cable going towards the city has now reached about Dwight way. The men engaged upon placing it are experienced and with the aid of a horse they get along quite fast.

The Hermann's Sons Order will hold their annual picnic this year at Captain Boswell's ranch on the 11th of August. Invitations will be extended to all guests. This is in order to prevent any hoodlum element from intruding itself upon the good-natured sons, who desire to have a good time and not be intruded upon.

George H. Inker, who was burned out a little while ago and lost about everything he had in the world has now got a roof over his head for his wife and little ones and is again ready to do any work in the tailoring line that the public may favor him with. His residence is on Eighth street, near Addison, West Berkeley, and any work entrusted to him will be promptly and carefully attended to.

Don't Fail

To attend the dialogue entertainment to be given this evening at Sisterna Hall by the members of the Epworth League of the Methodist Church.

Besides the dialogues which will be carried out by a number of charming young ladies in costume, there will be songs by some of the sweetest singers of Berkeley and Oakland.

The admission has been placed at 25 cents for adults and ten cents for children.

After the program is concluded there will be refreshments served. If you want a good time and desire to assist a worthy cause take your best girl, or have your best girl take you. You can also invite your sisters and your cousins and your aunts as they will all be welcome.

Mrs. Ensign Reid will not be in Berkeley Saturday evening as announced, but will be at the Salvation Army hall, Tuesday evening, July 30. E. Bridenbecker, Sergeant.

People in Berkeley should beware of a young man, of the blonde persuasion. He dresses in a sweater and endeavors to show himself to be a working man. He borrows tools telling that he is employed near by. After getting them he does not show up again with the borrowed articles.
